

Gut-Calming Habits Reset

(3 days)

Day 1

Breakfast

Warm porridge with cinnamon, banana & honey (eat sitting down, no phone)

Snack

Herbal tea (peppermint or ginger) + handful of almonds

Lunch

Chicken & vegetable soup — eat slowly, chew well

Snack

Apple with almond butter

Dinner

Baked salmon with quinoa & roasted Mediterranean vegetables (eat before 7pm)

Day 2

Breakfast

Scrambled eggs on sourdough with avocado (eat mindfully, 15 min minimum)

Snack

Ginger tea + rice cakes with hummus

Lunch

Warm lentil salad with feta, cucumber & olive oil

Snack

Banana & small handful of cashews

Dinner

Grilled chicken with sweet potato mash & steamed greens (eat before 7pm)

Day 3

Breakfast

Overnight oats with berries, seeds & natural yoghurt

Snack

Peppermint tea + dark chocolate (2 squares)

Lunch

Wrap with grilled halloumi, mixed leaves & hummus — eat slowly

Snack

Carrot & cucumber sticks with tzatziki

Dinner

Prawn stir-fry with rice & pak choi (eat before 7pm)

Extra Tips for Bloating & Constipation

These simple daily habits can make a real difference alongside your meal plan:

Eat 2 kiwis a day

Kiwis are one of the best natural remedies for constipation and bloating. Try having them at breakfast or as an afternoon snack.

Stay hydrated

Aim for 2–2.5 litres of water per day. I personally recommend drinking warm water (50–60°C) — it's gentler on your digestive system and can help reduce bloating.

Consider magnesium

Magnesium can help with regularity and muscle relaxation in the gut. Speak to a dietitian or GP about the right type and dose for you.

Start taking psyllium husk

Begin with a small dose (1 teaspoon) and gradually increase over 1–2 weeks. Always take it with plenty of water.

Choose mineral water

Water with added minerals supports digestion and overall gut function.

Move more

Even a 15-minute walk after meals can significantly improve digestion. Regular physical activity helps keep things moving.

 These are general tips. If your symptoms persist or are severe, please book a consultation for personalised advice.

Extra Tips to Reduce Stress and Anxiety

These simple daily habits can help calm your nervous system and support relaxation:

✓ Deep breathing

A simple, accessible, and safe way to stimulate the vagus nerve. Diaphragmatic breathing with deep, slow exhales is the key. This is especially effective in stressful situations. Aim for 5–6 breathing cycles per minute.

✓ Cold water

Cold exposure has a positive effect on vagus nerve tone:

- Dip your hands in cold water
- Wash your arms up to the elbows with cold water
- Rub an ice cube over your face
- Splash your face with cold water

✓ Quick relaxation exercise

Sit in a comfortable chair with your hands on your knees and feet flat on the floor. Lower your head and relax your shoulders. Relax your jaw and unclench your teeth. Close your eyes and breathe slowly and calmly. Feel your whole body relax. After 30 seconds, open your eyes, take a deep breath, and stretch!

✓ Sleep on your right side

Compared to other sleeping positions, this increases heart rate variability and activates the parasympathetic nervous system, which helps digestion and relaxation.

Mental wellbeing audio guides by NHS

Work With Me

This meal plan is a great starting point — but everyone's gut is different.

If you'd like a plan tailored specifically to your body, symptoms, and goals, I'm here to help.

📅 Book a free discovery call — a relaxed 15-minute chat where we figure out the best next step for you.

🌐 annadorandiet.com

✉️ contact@annadorandiet.com

📱 @annadoran_diet on Instagram

My services:

Initial Consultation

60 min • £109

Deep dive into your diet, digestion, and goals with a personalised plan

Health Coaching

6 sessions • £469

Ongoing support to transform your gut health step by step

Learn more about me and my services — <https://www.annadorandiet.com/en>